CALL FOR ABSTRACTS – Women’s Leadership in the African

Afrocentrism has its origins in the work of African and African diaspora intellectuals in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, following social changes in the United States and Africa due both to the end of slavery and the decline of colonialism. Following the American Civil War, African Americans in the South gathered together in communities to evade white control, established their own ...

Real men aren’t immersed in self-pity. They’re too busy out there in the real world, doing necessary and interesting things. Or do members of the nattering classes never wonder who keeps the lights on, the goods moving, the heat working in your house and provides your food, bar-coded and shrink-wrapped on demand?
